SUMMARY OF ARTWORK AND ARTIST BIO

The "Lunch Stories" grouping of art is made up of watercolor paintings that are all meant to tell a story. They are all featuring something to do with lunch.

From watching brats on the grill, toasting a lunch-time wedding, making a big catch, or hanging at a neighborhood sub shop, these are part of a larger series of 30 done as a January challenge.

I enjoy tackling layouts that push the envelope (for me) and are somewhat unique. My paint choice is usually Windsor & Newton or MaimeriBlu watercolor on Arches paper.

Graphic Arts has been my field of choice all my adult life, beginning with work at a local newspaper, moving on to commercial art at a college and at a print shop. I eventually switched to teaching graphics at Milwaukee Area Technical College and Lakeshore Technical College.

My degrees are in Adult Education as well as Training and Development from UW Stout; including a Bachelor's and Master's Degree. I also hold a degree in Commercial Art from MATC, and a certificate in Web Design from UWM.

Whether presenting layouts and logo designs to a customer, or turning framed art in for a show...it's all good. And it's a wonderful thing to do.
