EXHIBIT A:

The Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties, 1995 Standards for Preservation

- 1. A property will be used as it was historically, or be given a new use that maximizes the retention of distinctive materials, features, spaces, and spatial relationships. Where a treatment and use have not been identified, a property will be protected and, if necessary, stabilized until additional work may be undertaken.
- 2. The historic character of a property will be retained and preserved. The replacement of intact or repairable historic materials or alteration of features, spaces, and spatial relationships that characterize a property will be avoided.
- 3. Each property will be recognized as a physical record of its time, place, and use. Work needed to stabilize, consolidate, and conserve existing historic materials and features will be physically and visually compatible, identifiable upon close inspection, and properly documented for future research.
- 4. Changes to a property that have acquired historic significance in their own right will be retained and preserved.
- 5. Distinctive materials, features, finishes, and construction techniques or examples of craftsmanship that characterize a property will be preserved.
- 6. The existing condition of historic features will be evaluated to determine the appropriate level of intervention needed. Where the severity of deterioration requires repair or limited replacement of a distinctive feature, the new material will match the old in composition, design, color, and texture.
- 7. Chemical or physical treatments, if appropriate, will be undertaken using the gentlest means possible. Treatments that cause damage to historic materials will not be used.
- 8. Archeological resources will be protected and preserved in place. If such resources must be disturbed, mitigation measures will be undertaken.

Standards for Rehabilitation

- 1. A property will be used as it was historically or be given a new use that requires minimal change to its distinctive materials, features, spaces, and spatial relationships.
- 2. The historic character of a property will be retained and preserved. The removal of distinctive materials or alteration of features, spaces, and spatial relationships that characterize a property will be avoided.
- Each property will be recognized as a physical record of its time, place, and use. Changes that create a false sense of historical development, such as adding conjectural features or elements from other historic properties, will not be undertaken.
- 4. Changes to a property that have acquired historic significance in their own right will be retained and preserved.
- 5. Distinctive materials, features, finishes, and construction techniques or examples of craftsmanship that characterize a property will be preserved.
- 6. Deteriorated historic features will be repaired rather than replaced. Where the severity of deterioration requires replacement of a distinctive feature, the new feature will match the old in design, color, texture, and, where possible, materials. Replacement of missing features will be substantiated by documentary and physical evidence.
- 7. Chemical or physical treatments, if appropriate, will be undertaken using the gentlest means possible. Treatments that cause damage to historic materials will not be used.
- 8. Archeological resources will be protected and preserved in place. If such resources must be disturbed, mitigation measures will be undertaken.
- 9. New additions, exterior alterations, or related new construction will not destroy historic materials, features, and spatial relationships that characterize the property. The new work will be differentiated from the old and will be compatible - with the historic materials, features, size, scale and proportion, and massing to protect the integrity of the property and its environment.

- 10. New additions and adjacent or related new construction will be undertaken in such a manner that, if removed in the future, the essential form and integrity of the historic property and its environment would be unimpaired.

Standards for Restoration

- 1. A property will be used as it was historically or be given a new use which reflects the property's restoration period.
- 2. Materials and features from the restoration period will be retained and preserved. The removal of materials or alteration of features, spaces, and spatial relationships that characterize the period will not be undertaken.
- 3. Each property will be recognized as a physical record of its time, place, and use. Work needed to stabilize, consolidate and conserve materials and features from the restoration period will be physically and visually compatible, identifiable upon close inspection, and properly documented for future research.
- 4. Materials, features, spaces, and finishes that characterize other historical periods will be documented prior to their alteration or removal.
- 5. Distinctive materials, features, finishes, and construction techniques or examples of craftsmanship that characterize the restoration period will be preserved.
- 6. Deteriorated features from the restoration period will be repaired rather than replaced. Where the severity of deterioration requires replacement of a distinctive feature, the new feature will match the old in design, color, texture, and, where possible, materials.
- 7. Replacement of missing features from the restoration period will be substantiated by documentary and physical evidence. A false sense of history will not be created by adding conjectural features, features from other properties, or by combining features that never existed together historically.
- 8. Chemical or physical treatments, if appropriate, will be undertaken using the gentlest means possible. Treatments that cause damage to historic materials will not be used.
- 9. Archeological resources affected by a project will be protected and preserved in place. If such resources must be disturbed, mitigation measures will be undertaken.
- 10. Designs that were never executed historically will not be constructed.

Standards for Reconstruction

- 1. Reconstruction will be used to depict vanished or non-surviving portions of a property when documentary and physical evidence is available to permit accurate reconstruction with minimal conjecture, and such reconstruction is essential to the public understanding of the property.
- 2. Reconstruction of a landscape, building, structure, or object in its historic location will be preceded by a thorough archeological investigation to identify and evaluate those features and artifacts which are essential to an accurate reconstruction. If such resources must be disturbed, mitigation measures will be undertaken.
- 3. Reconstruction will include measures to preserve any remaining historic materials, features, and spatial relationships.
- 4. Reconstruction will be based on the accurate duplication of historic features and elements substantiated by documentary or physical evidence rather than on conjectural designs or the availability of different features from other historic properties. A reconstructed property will re-create the appearance of the non-surviving historic property in materials, design, color, and texture.
- 5. A reconstruction will be clearly identified as a contemporary re-creation.
- 6. Designs that were never executed historically will not be constructed.

124/126 WRIGHT STREET

This shingle style home was built in 1898 for Allen F. and Eva Warden and

Mr. Warden's children, Reginald (Rex) and Lillie.

Allen F. Warden was born to Allen Warden (a prominent Wisconsin settler, member of the second constitutional convention of Wisconsin and a signer of the state constitution) and his wife, Lucinda, in Beloit, Wisconsin, on March 20, 1852.

After graduating from the University of Wisconsin, Allen F. Warden held the position of principal at the high school in Plymouth, Wisconsin for two years. In July, 1875, he became the editor of the "Plymouth Reporter," which he edited until August, 1890. He was elected Superintendent of Schools of Sheboygan County in

Secretary of State T. J. Cunningham, a position he held from 1891 to 1895. In 1894 he moved to Waukesha and purchased "The Waukesha Dispatch," which he owned and operated until 1904.

In 1890 Mr. Warden was elected to the State Assembly from the Second District of Sheboygan County and served on the committees on state affairs and education. During his residence in Waukesha he was twice elected to the position of Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. At the end of the 19th century, Mr. Warden served two terms as Waukesha's mayor. During his tenure as mayor, he achieved many accomplishments, including the pavement of city streets, the establishment of a free public library, and the construction of the Waukesha high school. Following his position as mayor, he continued to represent the citizens of Waukesha as an alderman until he moved to Lawton, Oklahoma.

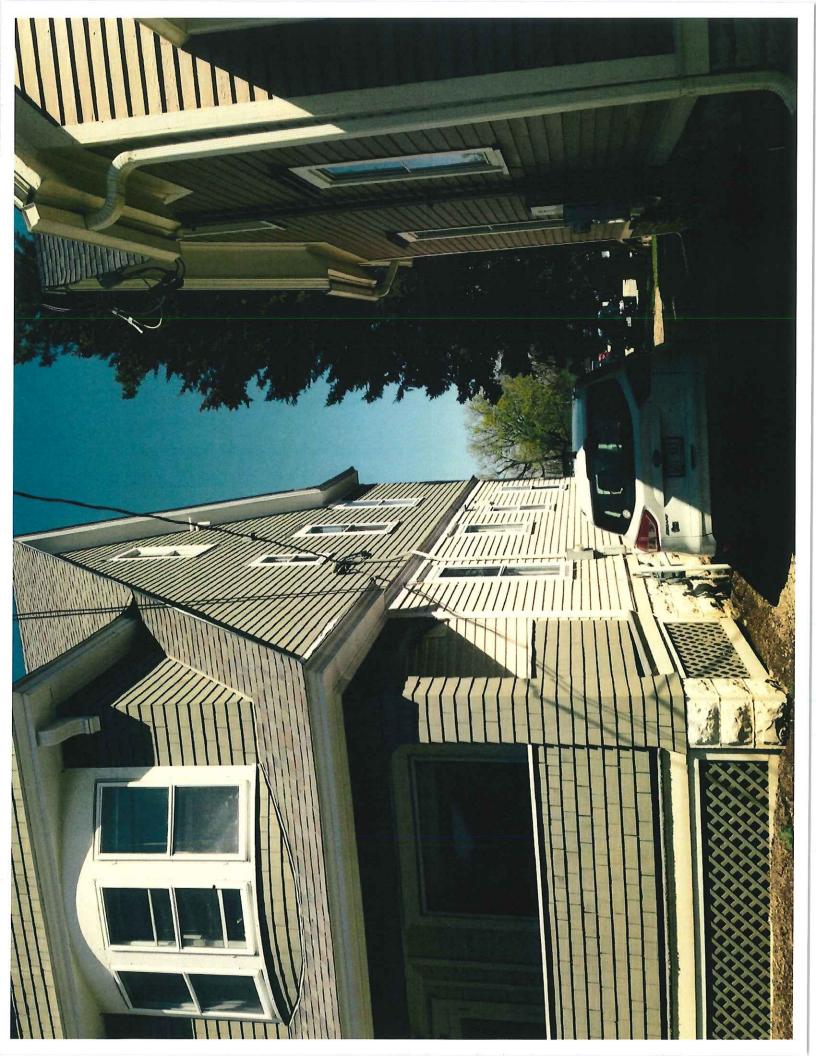

Allen F. Warden was a Royal Arch Mason, an Odd Fellow, and a charter member of the Hiawatha Council of the Royal Arcanum, of which he was Grand Regent in 1883 and 1884. He was also a member of Britton Masonic Lodge, Waukesha Chapter and Waukesha Commandary Knights Templar.

Mr. Warden was also a member of the Waukesha Lodge of Elks, being the first Exalted Ruler of that organization. Additionally, he served as the first president of the Wisconsin Association of Elks.

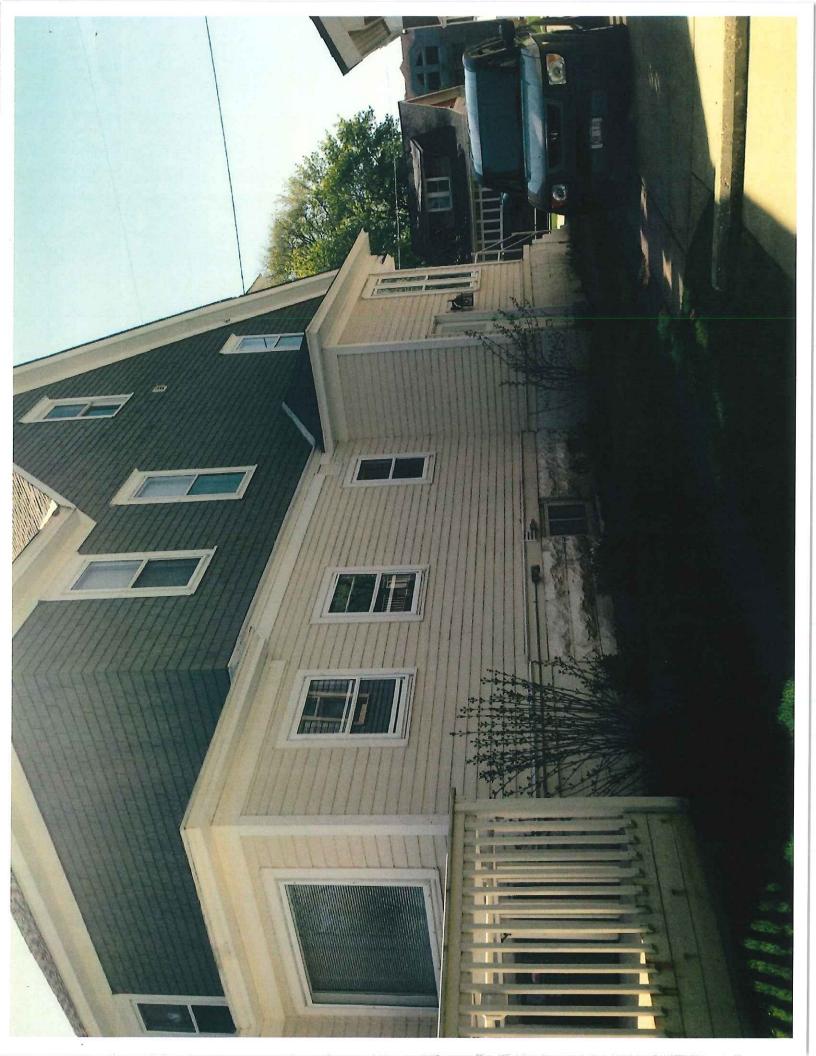

Mr. Warden also served as a senior warden of St. Matthias Parish in Waukesha. When the Waukesha Free Library was established at 108 Carroll Street in 1896, Eva Warden was elected treasurer, a position she held for some time.
