Sigma will provide the City with our construction expertise in the review of construction expenses and verification of construction cost for the 901 Northview Road facility. The review will include the core and shell of the new building and the site work. This review will begin following the completion of construction, and Sigma will report the findings within 45 days of the agreed upon construction completion date.

Our review will specifically include the following:

1. General review of construction documents provided by the City. Documents will be reviewed for completeness and regulatory agency review status.
2. General review of construction hard costs will include gross cost per square foot compared to similar projects and a review of individual cost line items with respect to completeness of the construction budget.
3. Preparation of a report with our findings.

Limitations:

- Our review of construction documents will be cursory in nature and corresponds to the proposed fee for our services. We will not verify code requirements or design calculations.
- The cost review will be general in nature and will not include a detailed take-off estimate.
- We will not perform a detailed review of geopier and/or other construction material testing reports.
