Agenda Item Title: Review and Approve additions to the Acceptable Use Policy

Issue Before the Board/Council:

The CIS Critical Security Controls recommend that organizations maintain several core policies to protect their systems and data. One of these is an Acceptable Use Policy, which explains how employees are allowed to use City technology, devices, and data.

Acceptable Use Policies can look different from one organization to another, but they typically outline three key points:

- What users are allowed to do with organizational data
- How City-owned devices may be used
- How information may be shared or transmitted

Because mobile devices are a common part of daily work, it's also important to define how they are managed and used. Instead of creating a separate mobile device policy, we added language to the existing Acceptable Use Policy to cover expectations for City-issued phones, tablets, and other mobile equipment. This keeps all related guidance in one place and makes the policy easier for everyone to understand and follow.
